Findings: Key Outcomes and Way Forward

Improvement in academic performance

Respondents reported that online sessions were conducted regularly and that they were helpful and understandable which helped them improve their academic performance

Integrated Approach to Education

Respondents reported holistic learning and an increase in self-confidence and decision-making abilities and recalled attending various online life skill sessions

Support from Family

Various activities conducted under GEP had a positive impact on the support for further education by family members and respondents also reported participating in family discussions and presenting their viewpoints

Way forward

- The study suggests to continue learning through participative activities
- It is recommended to re-evaluate the approach followed for implementing some activities like Radio Program 'Haunsle Ki Dagar' or TV Program/ Episode Sessions for their effectiveness in reaching intended beneficiaries and a concerted approach may be followed for tailoring individual Mentoring/ Counselling Sessions as per requirements of beneficiaries

I was able to have better clarity on my career choices due to participation in sessions
